Oregon's Greatest Mountain Men: EBBERTS, MEEK, and DRANNAN, Hunters and Trappers of the Northwest (1918): with additional sketch of J.Q. Thornton James Whitford Bashford

James Whitford Bashford (1849 - 1919) was a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States and the first bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church in China. He was elected the fourth President of Ohio Wesleyan University in 1889 he served as a pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church in several places including Portland, Oregon.

Bashford writes:

"THE recognition of the services of the men who helped save Oregon demands the portrayal of four more pioneers. One of these men, Ebberts, is a fine combination of trapper, farmer, and public citizen. Two of them, Meek and Drannan, remind us of Kit Carson and Daniel Boone, while Thornton suggests what Abraham Lincoln might have become had he gone to Oregon in the early days, as once seemed probable. The services of these men were of a half-political, half-military character. Ebberts, Meek, and Thornton helped to awaken the East and lead Congress to act on the territorial organization of Oregon, while Drannan as chief of the scouts helped bring the Modoc war to a conclusion." Interestingly, Drannan was adopted brought up by the great mountain man Kit Carson.
