The book: An Innovative Economic Plan - Equality and Wealth, is for people who are interested in economics and society and who want to know how a new revolutionary economic plan will change their lives, will change society and will change the entire world.

The Innovative plan is dealing with:

- Tax collecting according to one general tax on gasoline and electricity at a rate of several hundred percent and the termination of various taxes, fees, levies, obligatory insurance and entrance fees to public facilities.
- Restricting profits by controlling the cost of products and services sold in the country by performing simple spot-checks on products and services in a limited number of business establishments.
- Supervising advertisements (retroactively) through a strict and detailed system of rules which will bring complete change to the nature of media advertising.
- New rules determining salaries in the public and private sector (different rules for each sector) that will ensure employees a fair salary, befitting their contribution and work conditions.
- New rules for stock exchange trade that will restrict the buying/selling of shares for ten days from the last sale/purchase, which will prevent speculation and enable long-term investments.
- New rules for legal changes of signed contracts if one of the parties discovers that the terms of the contract are unbalanced.
- Buying an apartment via two parallel channels: Purchasing an ownership percentage of the apartment and paying regular rent on the ownership percentage that the buyer does not own. The buyer can buy more percentages (or sell) according to his financial situation.
- In addition to these ideas, the book includes many other revolutionary ideas as well as the detailed advantages of the new economic plan
